AFRICAN EMPIRE CREATED BY PREMIER MUSSOLINI PASSES INTO OBLIVION AS BRITISH ARMY SWEEPS INTO TRIPOLI

Vanguards of Victorious Army Occupy City and Raise Union Jack Above Government Buildings—Rome-Berlin Axis Acknowledges Great Victory of British

CAIRO, Jan. 23.—The 1,000,000 square mile African Empire created by Premier Benito Mussolini with the tools and weapons of Fascist tyranny passed into oblivion today when Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth Army swept into the great Libyan port of Tripoli.

As dawn broke over the Southern Mediterranean at five o'clock this morning, vanguards of the victorious army composed of United Kingdom, Dominion and Colonial forces, occupied the city and raised the Union Jack above its gleaming white government buildings.

The Rome-Berlin Axis acknowledged this great British victory with surprising alacrity and in official broadcasts admitted that Tripoli had been evacuated.

Tripoli itself, scene of the first overseas exploit by American Marines in 1805 when the United States struck at the depredations of Barbary Coast pirates, fell almost without a struggle.

But heavy fighting in the hilly outskirts surrounding the harbor preceded the capitulation, and Tripoli now goes down with Ypres, Mons and Khartoum as a major victory in the deathless history of British arms.

To Cairo and other outposts of the British Empire which played a leading role in this great triumph which stripped Victor Emmanuel of Italy of his imperial mantle and reduced him to mere kingship, British Secretary of War Sir James Grigg broadcast a stirring message of congratulation.

"We have news of the fall of Tripoli," he said in a broadcast from London. "To all intents and purposes, this completes elimination of the Italian empire in Africa."

By W. P. Saphire

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
CAIRO, Jan. 23.—(INS)—Spearheads of the British Eighth Army were reported to have penetrated the last defenses of Tripoli today to end the battle of Libya. Shattered remnants of the Afrika Korps fled west toward Tunisia, and vanguards of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Army were reported to have passed Ben Gardane, 120 miles beyond Tripoli inside the Tunisian border.

Advance units of the Eighth Army drove through Friday to the ring of hills surrounding the Libyan port and mounted artillery batteries to shell the Axis rear guard forces.

(The Morocco radio said British forces had entered Tripoli and were in firm control of all defense points.)

Tripoli was reported in flames following demolition explosions set by the retreating Axis armies.

Pursuit by the British forces was hampered by extensive mine fields planted by the Axis rear guard units. The main force of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's army followed close on the heels of the sappers who painstakingly exploded the mines planted by the retreating enemy and repaired roadways and restored bridges destroyed in the flight of the beaten Axis army.

The engineer units found ample evidence that the enemy was short of explosives. Telegraph poles along the highway were sawed down instead of being dynamited.

Allied pilots who made observation flights over Tripoli reported that the port was covered by heavy clouds of smoke from fires and demolition explosions.

Rommel's retreating columns, scurrying westward to join the Axis forces in Tunisia, were under constant attack

Mrs. William Gosline Dies At Newtown Nursing Home

Ill for a long period of time, Mrs. Mary B. Gosline died at a nursing home in Newtown yesterday in her 88th year. She had made her home with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Anna Gosline, Linden street, until she was removed to the nursing home.

The widow of William Gosline, she is survived by one son, Richard, of Croydon; three grandsons, Richard, William and Thomas Gosline, of Bristol; and two great-grandchildren, Mary Ann and John Gosline, of Bristol.

Born in Tullytown, she came here as a child and spent most of her life-span in Bristol.

The rites are arranged for Monday at two p. m., at the Morden funeral chapel, 133 Otter street. Burial will be in Bristol Cemetery. Friends are invited to call Sunday evening.

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY REPORTERS

Because of the ban which has been placed upon pleasure driving, only eight persons attended the meeting of the Northampton Farmers' Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gill, Richboro, this week. The members attending live near to the place of the meeting and they walked.

On account of the small attendance, it was impossible to go through the regular election, but the members, acting upon the recommendation of the nomination committee, agreed to have the following serve as officers for the next six months: President, Paul S. Davis; vice-president, John Weir; secretary, Mrs. Wilmer Gill; treasurer, Furman A. Edwards; editor, Mrs. Roy Atha; reporter, Mrs. Helen Pownall; and executive committee, Mr. and Mrs. Furman A. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weir and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cornell.

Plans were completed at the meeting of the Victory Club in Doylestown for the V-C's third concert to be held January 29th in the Presbyterian Educational Building, that community, at which time the servicemen of the Naval Air Base at Pitcairn will be entertained.

Phyllis Larzelere, chairman of the canteen committee, outlined the evening's entertainment and asked that all members who intend to attend the canteen get in touch with her.

After the business session the girls divided into two groups. One group left to go bowling, and the other group practiced basketball in preparation for the club's game with the Doylestown High girls' team.

Charged with a violation of the blackout regulations in wartime, Robert Pfitzenheimier, 23, employed in the service department of an airplane plant at Johnsville, was arrested at his home in Warrington by Constable Elmer Shupe.

Pfitzenheimier furnished bail before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, of Edison, in the sum of $300, for a hearing on Saturday night, January 23rd, at Justice Wrigley's office. Bail was furnished by Roland Waterfield, of Warrington.

The arrest was made on the information of Earl D. Blair, of Doylestown, Chief County Air Raid Warden. The information sets forth, among other things, that Pfitzenheimier violated the regulations during a blackout on the night of January 14th, when he openly defied the local wardens by turning on a light before the all clear had sounded.

Listed in The Will of Samuel P. Knight; Estate of $3,000

NACE ESTATE IS LISTED

Descendants of Abraham H. Freed, Late of Perkaspie, Benefit

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 22.—The widow, Ella W. Knight, was named sole heir and executrix in the will of Samuel P. Knight, Lower Southampton township, who died December 17, 1942. The testator, who left an estate of $3000, executed his will on December 20, 1941.

Leaving an estate of $6900, Abraham S. Nace, also known as Abraham S. Nace, named his widow, Annie Nace, 528 Arch St., Perkaspie, executrix of his estate. A special bequest of $6000 was made to the widow. The remainder of the estate is to be divided in two equal shares, one to go to the widow and the other to the Bucks County Trust Co., of Doylestown with the interest to be paid semi-annually to the widow. Upon her death it is to be shared equally by David S. Nace, Samuel Bader and Edwin Dader.

The testator, whose will was executed July 28, 1923, died December 21, 1942.

Abraham H. Freed, Perkaspie, who left an estate valued at $3700, bequeathed $200 to the trustees of the Mennonite Church of Blooming Glen, and $578 to a son, Irvin F. Freed. He directed that the remainder of his estate be divided in two equal shares, one to be given to Irvin F. Freed and the other to the lawful descendants of a deceased son, Elmer F. Freed.

Donald B. Smith, Perkaspie, acted as executor of the will, made on March 20, 1936, in place of the executor appointed by the testator who renounced the duty. The testator died on December 12, 1942.

Letters of administration in the estate of Robert Allen Walter, also known as Robert A. Walter, Riegelsville, were granted to his father, Austin S. Walter, also of Riegelsville. Heirs to the $2500 estate are the father and mother, Mrs. Mabel Z. Walter.

A daughter, Irene Ellis, will share the estate of Daniel J. King, Riegelsville, with three grandchildren, Marjorie, Mildred and Edna Kachline, of Easton R. D. 4. Letters of administration in the estate, $800 personal and real estate situated on Route 611 in Riegelsville, were granted to Irene Ellis.

GIVEN CLARIFICATION ON NEW GAS RULINGS

Representatives of Industries To Pass On Employees' Mileage, Etc.

N A M E COMMITTEEMEN

Representatives of numerous industries in this area attended a meeting called Thursday evening in the Municipal Building by the War Defense Transportation Committee, of which committee Minot J. Hill is local administrator.

The purpose of the meeting was to give clarification to new regulations effective yesterday in securing additional gasoline and tires for workers.

The meeting was called in the particular interest of plants in which 100 or more are employed, although representatives of smaller companies were also present.

Mr. Hill and Alexander Wilson, latter a member of the State Advisory Board, presided, with Mr. Wilson also answering numerous questions. It is required that the larger plants (and also deemed advisable for smaller plants) to have a reliable representative or representatives form a committee, to pass on mileage, etc., when applications are made for new tires, recaps, or for additional gasoline. The O. K. of the plant committee is necessary in making such applications.

Representatives of about 15 plants were named on Thursday evening. It was stated that the committeemen must have definite knowledge as to needs of the applicants, what distance they live from their place of employment, etc.

Serve As Hostesses To A Sunday School Class

Mrs. W. E. Preston Haas, Mulberry street; and Mrs. Samuel Rogers, Buckley street, were hostesses at a meeting of the Sunday School class taught by Mrs. William Mohr, on Wednesday evening.

The meeting was held in Bristol Methodist Church social room. Business was followed by a social hour. Refreshments were served.

Desire Games for Use of Soldiers at Fort Dix

A plea is being made by members of the "34 for Victory" for games which will be donated to Fort Dix, N. J., for use of soldiers in the hospital and recreation centers there.

The local organization plans to expend a large sum of money on games for this purpose, and desires to augment this supply of new games and decks of cards by any which members of the populace desire to donate.

It is the belief of members that residents of the area would be glad to co-operate in this project, donating either new games or used games that are clean and in good condition. Those having such donations are asked to telephone Bristol 644 or leave the items at the Richmond store, 315 Mill street.

Searching Parties Comb

Wide Area for Plane

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(INS)—Navy aircraft and Army searching parties today combed wide areas in California and Arizona for two Navy planes missing since Thursday with a total of 25 persons, including 13 naval officers, aboard.

A widespread search was being made in the sea and mountains near San Francisco for a giant Navy transport seaplane which disappeared after a 2,000-mile flight from Pearl Harbor with 19 persons, including 10 naval officers, aboard. The plane carried a crew of nine.

Meanwhile, a joint Army-Navy hunt was being conducted for a navy cargo transport plane which is long overdue on a flight from Winslow, Ariz., to San Pedro, Cal. The twin-engine aircraft was last reported at 5:40 p. m. Thursday, about 26 minutes out of Winslow, the Navy disclosed.

This plane carried a crew of three officers and three enlisted men, cargo and mail. No passengers were aboard.

The giant Navy seaplane missing on the flight from Pearl Harbor attempted to land at San Francisco Thursday and circled in the vicinity of the city. However, fog and bad weather prevented a landing in the area at the time. Radio contact has not been made with the plane since Thursday morning.

"A search of wide land and sea areas has failed as yet to reveal any sign of the transport," the Navy said.

The four-engine Clipper-type plane was being operated for the Naval Air Transport Service.

LEONARD MARGARI, 19, IS INSTANTLY KILLED AS CAR OVERTURNS; HIS FOUR COMPANIONS HURT; PEDESTRIAN HIT HERE

Dead Youth Was Driver of Machine — Owner Only Slightly Hurt in Accident near Emilie—Mrs. Louise Tomlinson Struck by Car at Mill Street and Highway

A Bristol youth of 19 years, Leonard Margari, 323 Lafayette street, met instant death early this morning, and four companions were slightly injured when the automobile in which they were riding is said to have turned over several times on a curve on Woodbourne Road, half a mile from Emilie.

In an accident at Mill street and the highway, a few minutes before midnight, a Bristol woman was injured, being hit by a car as she attempted to cross the highway.

The accident near Emilie occurred at 12:50 a. m. Margari, the dead youth, was the driver of the machine, which was owned by one of the occupants, Edward Loncosky.

Margari was the son of Anthony and Mary Margari, and had been employed by Fleetwings, Inc., for the past 10 months.

The four young men, riding with Margari, were: Loncosky, the owner, who sustained small cuts; Angelo Napoli, 22, injuries to left shoulder; John Papotto, 18, cut over right eye, cut on first finger of left hand; Joseph Romano, 19, slight injury to right leg. All of the young men live on Lafayette street.

It is believed that Margari was killed instantly. He and the four others were taken to Harriman Hospital by Bucks County Rescue Squad members; and the body of Margari was then removed to the Galzerano funeral home here.

Deputy coroner of Bucks County, J. Alfred Righy, was called; and also Pvt. Newton, Penna. Motor Police, South Langhorne barracks. The crash occurred at about one o'clock.

Margari, who had attended Bristol high school, left his studies during his junior year. He was scheduled to have a physical examination and if he had passed, to be inducted into the army on February 1st. His survivors are his parents; and the following sisters: Mrs. Michael Cianciotti, the Misses Rose, Aletha and Lucy Margari.

The Bristol woman who was injured at Mill street and the highway just before midnight was Mrs. Louise Tomlinson, Chestnut street. According to police reports she was walking across Route 12, and the driver of the car, Benjamin Hoffman, Mill street, was turning from Route 13, on which he had travelled east, onto Mill street. Hoffman took the woman to the Harriman Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Tomlinson was treated for contused wound of both knees and the right side of her forehead. She was later discharged from the hospital.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Russian Armies Pounding Into Kurska Area

Moscow—Russian armies pounding through the Ukraine have driven into the Kursk area, frontline dispatches reported today as Red Army forces drew closer to Kharkov and Rostov.

The three objectives of the Soviet offensive are key points on the Axis winter line and the capture of any one would force a general enemy withdrawal. Friday's Soviet communique disclosed that Russian forces driving south-west from Voronezh, were starting an offensive to outflank Kursk, which is 130 miles west of Voronezh and 120 miles north of Kharkov.

Russian offensives surged ahead today on a 2,000 mile front from Lake Ladoza to the deep Caucasus. Scores of towns fell to the advancing columns pressing on German strongholds.

Red Army forces closing in on Rostov captured the important North Caucasus rail town of Salsk 100 miles southeast of the encircled citadel. Russian columns advancing along the south bank of the Don were reported to have recaptured Konstantinovsk, within 65 miles of Rostov.

Italians Admit Loss of Tripoli

Rome—The Italian high command minced no words today in admitting the fall of Tripoli.

"Tripoli was evacuated last night after heavy fighting by Axis troops which turned westward," the high command said in its daily communique. "Fighting between mechanized and tank formations of the two sides continued yesterday south of Tripoli."

In Tunisia, the Italians claimed, German and Italian troops consolidated their successes of the previous days.

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

AMARILLO ARMY AIR FIELD, Jan. 23.—Pvt. James F. Torano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Torano, 350 Dorrance street, Bristol, Pa., has begun an intensive course of study in aviation mechanics at this Army Air Field, one of the newest schools in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command.

He will spend several months at this great mechanics' school, and upon graduation will be sent to one of Uncle Sam's air bases, there to do his part in keeping America's "Flying Fortresses" harassing the Axis. In addition to mechanical training, his course here will include army discipline and courtesy, military drill and physical exercise to put him in the peak of condition.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Opposing The Army Plans

Washington, Jan. 21.
IN the controversy over the expansion of the army to 7,500,000, which, with the increased navy personnel, will bring the total of our armed forces approximately to 10,500,000, the army seems to be gaining ground. It is true the opposition from certain civilian governmental war agencies is still strong and that this will be reflected in Congress, which has to make the appropriation for the expansion.

BUT RECENTLY the army's cause has been strengthened by the sweeping away of certain misconceptions and by a clearer consideration of the facts. For one thing, when the position of the opponents the expansion is analyzed, it does not make very good sense. These civilian heads say they do not question the judgment of our military leaders on purely military matters. Not at all. What they do question is their lack of knowledge of the civilian capacity to meet their military plans. Conceding that the expanded army is necessary to crush our enemy they insist there are not ships enough, food enough and manpower enough to transport, supply and sustain such an army abroad. Hence, we cannot have such an army.

IF THIS means anything it means that we cannot win the war. In effect, that is the argument of those who oppose. And the only way to get away from the unhelpful position in which it places them is to assert that the military leaders do not know their own business and the job can be done with a much smaller army. But that would be equivalent to saying that these civilian heads know more about military matters than the military

POWERS OF CONGRESS

The organization ritual following the convening of the new Congress was marked by speeches by leaders of both parties which clearly indicated that this Congress is determined to recover some of the prestige and authority which were so recklessly cast away in the early days of the New Deal. The leaders declared war on the making of laws by department and bureau chiefs.

It was Congress which empowered the bureaucrats to pitter regulations having the force of law and, as has been noted in a number of Supreme Court decisions, Congress alone can withdraw those powers.

If the session holds true to its declared purpose, it will not only correct its own mistakes, but in so doing will try to earn the respect and esteem of the people. After all, Congress is the voice of the people in Washington.

The House in particular reflects the views of the people as expressed less than three months ago. It holds a direct mandate that was laid upon it after nearly a year of American fighting in a war to preserve the liberties that are guaranteed in the Constitution, liberties which during the last decade have been so arrogantly and lawlessly infringed and ruined.

There is no disposition in Congress to go to extremes in putting the executive and judicial branches in their places. The plan is to set them where they belong under the Constitution and to make no attempt to invade their jurisdictions.

The restraints inherent in the three-branch, or tripartite, plan work almost automatically when each body to its constitutional concern. That is all that the people ask. It calls for liberation from the restraints of appointed petty tyrants and return to government by law. That is also the best way to win the utmost in war effort from the people.

WOMEN LEAD THE WAY

New light has been shed on the problem of absenteeism in industry by a report of the General Motors Corporation. Within a few months this corporation will have employed 50 per cent more workers than during any year since 1918, and the increase is expected to reach half a million employees. From so large a group it is possible to get an accurate picture of a cross-section of industry.

Unfortunately, the women are too encouraging from the point of view of regular attendance. Absenteeism is much greater during war time than during peacetime, an average of 45,000 non-day being lost every week by General Motors factory employees stay away from jobs.

Part of this may be explained by physical ill, due to greater strain, but some of it must be attributed to the feeling of prosperity which high wages confer. Economic pressure has been eased for many workers, with the result that being docked a few dollars now and then for absence holds no terrors. Others, with more money than they saw ever before, cannot help celebrating just after pay day.

Perhaps this aspect finds some confirmation in the report of Prof. C. E. Wilson of General Motors that women, although as a whole new to industrial work, stay on the job more conscientiously than do men. There is something in this for men workers to think about.

Don't Believe Axis News, Soldier Advises

boys in the outfit. Everything is under control and we are cooking with gas. We had a good trip over and except for the bunch of people in small spaces all went well.

I might add here that you are under no circumstances to believe any news or propaganda put out by the Axis. They are putting out a lot of erroneous reports about ship sinkings and that sort of thing. So only official reports from Uncle Sam himself can be believed.

We have been able to visit Oran. This is situated in one of the most beautiful harbors in the world. The city is fairly modern, having electric lights and street cars, and all that sort of thing. Most of the populace is French, and that is the most widely used language. I sure am sorry that I did not pay more attention to that subject in high school. I can understand most of the signs about town and can with a supreme effort make myself understood. A lot of the people are Arabs. . . . Soap they know no part of. The most popular drink is wine and they sell a lot of it. I suppose that we will be paid in francs. The present rate is 75 francs make one dollar. I guess that I will have to get a barracks bag to get my pay. We had a great time in Oran with this dough. With the exception of food, everything is cheap. There is no soap and with a couple of bars you could get yourself almost anything that you would want.

We are being fed well. There is plenty of food and supplies—at least we show no lack of anything. As yet I have not seen anyone from around Bristol, but expect to at any day.

Your soldier son,
JIM.

ed in the repeated bombings of the nearby airport.

British forces closed in on Tripoli from two directions. One column drove along the coastal road from the east while the second force moved in on the interior highway from the south. At noon Friday British vanguards on the coastal road passed Castel Vardi, only 30 miles east of Tripoli.

Heavy fighting raged in Tunisia as the Afrika Korps fled from Libya. French troops holding the line in Central Tunisia in the Foudouk area, southwest of the Port of Sousse, dislodged German forces from a strong hill position and advanced several miles.

But another Axis column, driving from Pont Du Fahs, 65 miles south of Tunis, was reported to be forging ahead in a thrust southwest which has reached a point 37 miles beyond Pont Du Fahs.

British reinforcements, rushed to the aid of their French allies, slowed down the Axis offensive on the central Tunisian front. Ferocity of the enemy attack obviously betrayed fear that French columns might drive a wedge to the East Tunisian coast and cut off the retreat of Rommel's army.

American troops entrenched northwest of Sousse repelled strong German attacks and continued to hold positions dominating Kairouan, a rail center west of Sousse. After beating off the enemy attack the American forces drove ahead and captured two small villages.

German columns fighting their way into the interior from the east Tunisian coast were separated by a ridge held by British and French forces, and their positions were considered none too secure. Allied aircraft harassed the enemy drives. A French communiqué said 24 Axis aircraft had been shot down on the central Tunisian front in the past few days.

The danger is that they will open the door for various special groups, particularly labor, to demagogue about the army's plans in a way to affect Congress and possibly jeopardize the whole business.

THAT, IT will be conceded, would be a pretty serious responsibility to assume. Of course, the chief misconception about this business is that in its 7,500,000 figure the army has presented the maximum requirements for winning the war and has given no thought to the practical problems of supply. To believe that is to believe that the army is stupid and incompetent, which no one does. The truth is that this figure is the minimum and not the maximum figure. The further truth is that, before asking for an army of that size, the army leaders went very thoroughly into the question of transportation, supplies and home requirements. In brief, the army thought the thing through and made no snap demand for 7,500,000 men without regard to the civilian problems involved.

AFTER EXHAUSTIVE study, it is the army's contention that the number of physically fit men in the appropriate age groups is vastly in excess of that required to meet the planned expansion. Nor will this withdrawal of manpower weigh too heavily on our productive capacities. On the contrary, a volume of military production adequate to equip and supply this force can be achieved and essential civilian needs provided for with the man and woman power remaining available. Finally, it is said, the expansion is not out of line with a reasonable forecast of our prospective capacity to transport troops and supplies to overseas theaters.

IT IS agreed that much of this depends upon what we do to the enemy and what the enemy does to us. If we do what we expect, the job will get easier and the strain less severe all the time. On the other hand, if the rate of sinkings by submarines increases and no way is found to meet that menace, then all plans will miscarry and we will lose the war. Obviously, the army plans are made on the sound assumption that one way or the other we will lessen the submarine toll and eliminate that danger.

ONE OTHER contention is that with so great an army, the military might some day move in on the civilian economy and take over the country. Under Secretary Patterson effectively dealt with that point some time ago in his testimony before a Senate committee. Said Mr. Patterson: "No responsible person in the War Department, civilian or military, would countenance such a notion for a moment. In speaking of the 'military' we should bear in mind that most of the 'military' were civilians two years ago. In the spring of 1940 we had an army of 250,000. Now we have an army of 5,000,000. Nineteen out of twenty men now in the army were in civilian life two and a half years ago. In officer strength twenty-four out of twenty-five were civilians two and a half years ago. The army is not made up of a military caste. It is a people's army, with its men drawn from and truly representative of the entire nation. So any talk of military aggression ought not to terrify anybody. The army moves in only on those nations with whom we are at war."

BRISTOL HIGH WINS FIRST LOWER BUCKS TRIUMPH; DEFEATS BENSEALEM IN ONE-SIDED AND UNINTERESTING MATCH

Bristol High won its first Lower Bucks and fifth triumph of the season last night on the local floor as it thumped the Bensalem High School, 49-23, in a one-sided and uninteresting match.

The Bunnies went without exerting much effort. The Owls were weak both offensively and defensively and only in spots did they show any ability of coping with the Bristol five.

The minions of Coach "Bill" Bartholomew were in the lead from the opening whistle when Scancellia and Messanelli scored before the time clock had turned its first minute and before the first quarter was over, Bristol had a 19-4 lead and Paul Ruby had accounted for a quartet of leaders.

Bristol increased this lead as the second period got under way and Coach Bartholomew had yanked his starting line-up in favor of a new five. This team held its own against the visitors making the half-time score 26-10. The Bristol mentor kept this team in there until the last four minutes of play when he took them out with the score 47-19.

The Bristol fans were yelling for the regular quintet to hit the 50 mark to set a new high for the season but try as hard as it did, the best it could do was to score a field goal to make it 49 while Bensalem counted twice to bring its total to 23 points, more than it has scored in any one game this season.

Angelo Cordisco, back into the line-up after an illness, paced Bristol's attack with 12 points while Ruby had 11. "Hughie" Deans was high for the losing team with 11 counters.

BENSEALEM GIRLS BEAT B. H. S. HERE IN BASKETBALL GAME

Coach Kallenbach's Lassies Lose To Visitors By Score of 32-18

STRONG IN SECOND-HALF

Visitors Scored Seven Points Over Bristol Right At Start

The Bensalem girls' team continued their superiority over Bristol last night by scoring a 32-18 victory over Coach Phyllis Kallenbach's lassies on the local court. This was not a league match, as the circuit disbanded this season.

A strong second-half stand gave the Owlettes the triumph. Bristol played well until the first-half whistle, but from then on it was all Bensalem until the last two minutes, when Betty Bachofer scored three field goals in fast order.

The visitors had the jump on the localites from the start when they scored seven points before the cardinal and gray could ring in a point, but the Bristol defense tightened and midway in the second period the score stood at 9-8 in favor of Coach Smith's girls. That was the last chance for Bristol, as the Bensalem scoring went back into action.

Doris Gonzalez and Jenny Peterson scored 23 of the winners' points, while Bachofer shook the cords for 15 of Bristol's 18 points and G. Biggs gave the other three markers. Both teams were poor from the foul mark, Bensalem having two out of nine, and Bristol two out of 12.

Referee: Ridger.
Timer: B. Lynch and Dougherty.
Scorer: R. Corn and B. Koplin.

Bensalem, 17; Bristol, 8.

INSULATE NOW!

DON'T DELAY!

Your Government recommends it. Your Ration Board insists on it. Common sense dictates it. And the quicker you act the more heat you will obtain from your fuel oil coupons.

We have scientific equipment and trained men ready to do the job for you at once. Let us show you how you can keep your home warm in spite of fuel rationing.

FUEL CONSERVATION THIS WINTER INDICATES AN UNHEALTHY, UNCOMFORTABLE HOME UNLESS INSULATED!
